

Class 9: Politically Violent Activity

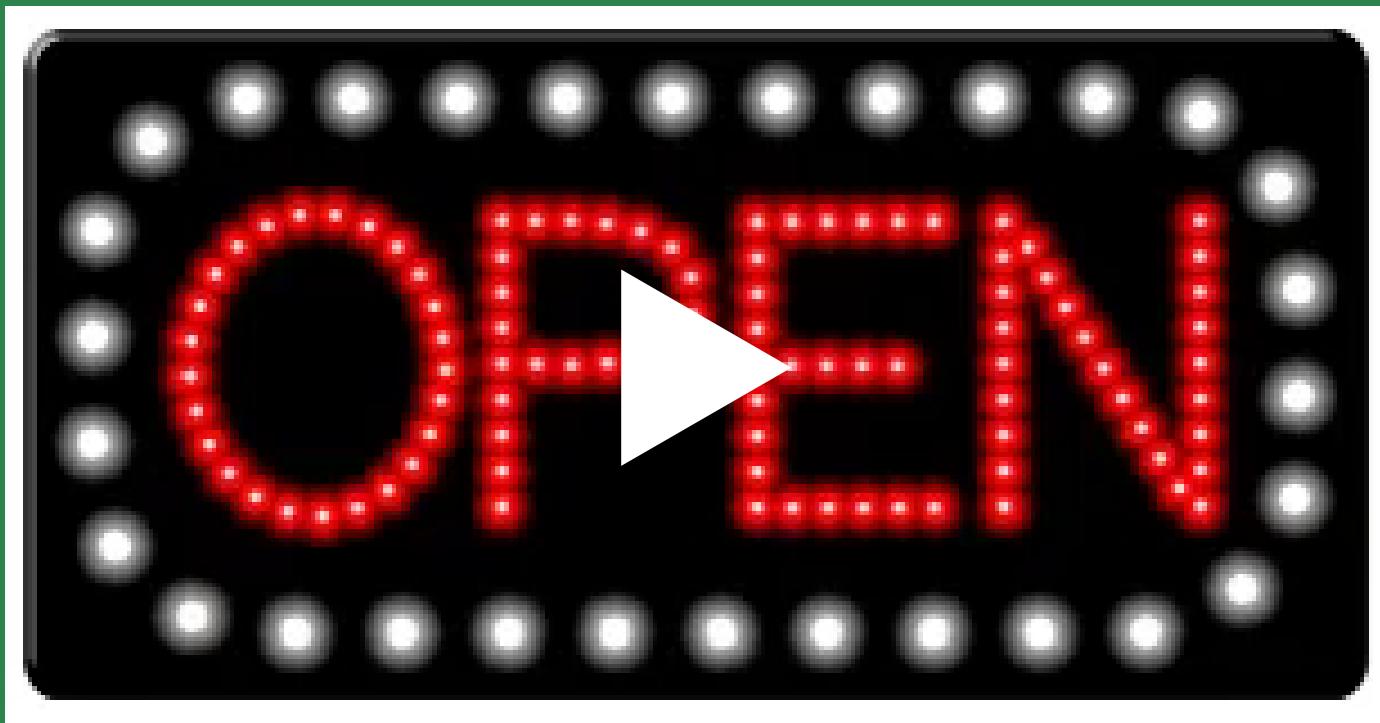

Escalation and restraint

Dr. Michael C. Zeller

Agenda for the day

- Opening notes
- Antifa
- Poll: escalation and restraint
- Mechanisms of escalation and restraint
- A case of RWE restraint?
- Any questions, concerns, feedback for this class?

Opening notes

Presentation groups

Presentations line-up

Date	Presenters	Method
4 Dec:	Shahadaan, Kristine, Daichi	ethnography
11 Dec:	Bérénice, Zorka, Victoria, Katharina	content analysis
18 Dec:	Shoam, Aidan, Tara, Sebastian	QCA

Antifa

- opening discussion
- debatable proposition and pressing policy issue
- antifa in Germany
- Copsey and Merrill (2020): antifa in the U.S.

What should we, students of political violence, know about antifa? (causes? organisation/leadership? radical subcultures and mobilisation? strategies?)

is antifa a 'gang' (Pyrooz and Densley 2018)? is antifa a 'group' (LaFree 2018)?

- gang - 'durable and street-oriented youth group whose involvement in illegal activity is part of its group identity' (Pyrooz and Densley 2018, 230)
- group - 'some stable organisation that persists over time and has some discernible leadership structure' (LaFree 2018, 249), see also GTF database: <https://www.start.umd.edu/gtd/>

Debatable proposition: antifa as terrorist org.?

Pyrooz and Densley (2018, 233): “the history of antifa reads like a history of violence” vs.

Bray (2017, 169): “In truth, violence represents a small though vital sliver of anti-fascist activity.”

Should state security (in Germany, elsewhere) designate antifa as extremist/terrorist

antifa (recently) in Germany

ARD series (in German): <https://www.ardaudiothek.de/sendung/die-fascho-jaegerin-der-fall-lina-e-und-seine-folgen/94838298/>

- 28-year-old antifa activist, Lina E., and three accomplices jailed for either membership of or support for a criminal organisation.
 - politicised/radicalised by revelations about NSU in 2011
- attacks on (assumed) right-wing extremists in Thüringen and Sachsen between 2018 and 2020
- judge...
 - acknowledged deficiency of criminal punishment of neo-Nazis
 - described right-wing extremism as a greater threat to Germany
 - but asserted 'even Nazis have inalienable rights'
 - criticized the defense lawyers for describing the trial as "political justice."

recent journal article: Jones and Schuhmacher (2024)

Copsey and Merrill (2020) - background

- Since 2001, right-wing extremists in the U.S. responsible for 110 politically motivated deaths – antifa: 0 (or maximum one, in case of 2020 death of Patriot Prayer supporter)

In putting their “bodies on the line,” militant anti-fascists aspire to defeat fascist organizing, to de-stabilize it, and ultimately demobilize it. At its root, anti-fascist militancy is the promise to effect intimidation, humiliation and de-moralization upon fascists. This involves a physical commitment to “no platforming” (p. 124)

- lots of informative background information about U.S. antifa in the article

Copsey and Merrill (2020) - research design

Copsey and Merrill (2020) - findings/points raised

- violent disruption of “fascist” assembly is an axiom of antifa praxis
- how far does the label ‘fascist’ extend?
 - “legitimacy of anti-fascist action is thus drawn from the illegitimacy of its opponent”
- antifa’s “pre-emptive self-defence”
 - premised on (a) deadliness of fascist movements of any size and (b) rapid growth potential of fascist movements
- there are ‘internal/tactical and rhetorical strategies that limit violence’ from antifa – BUT, consistent danger of antifa slipping into glorification of violence

Poll: escalation and restraint

Take the survey at

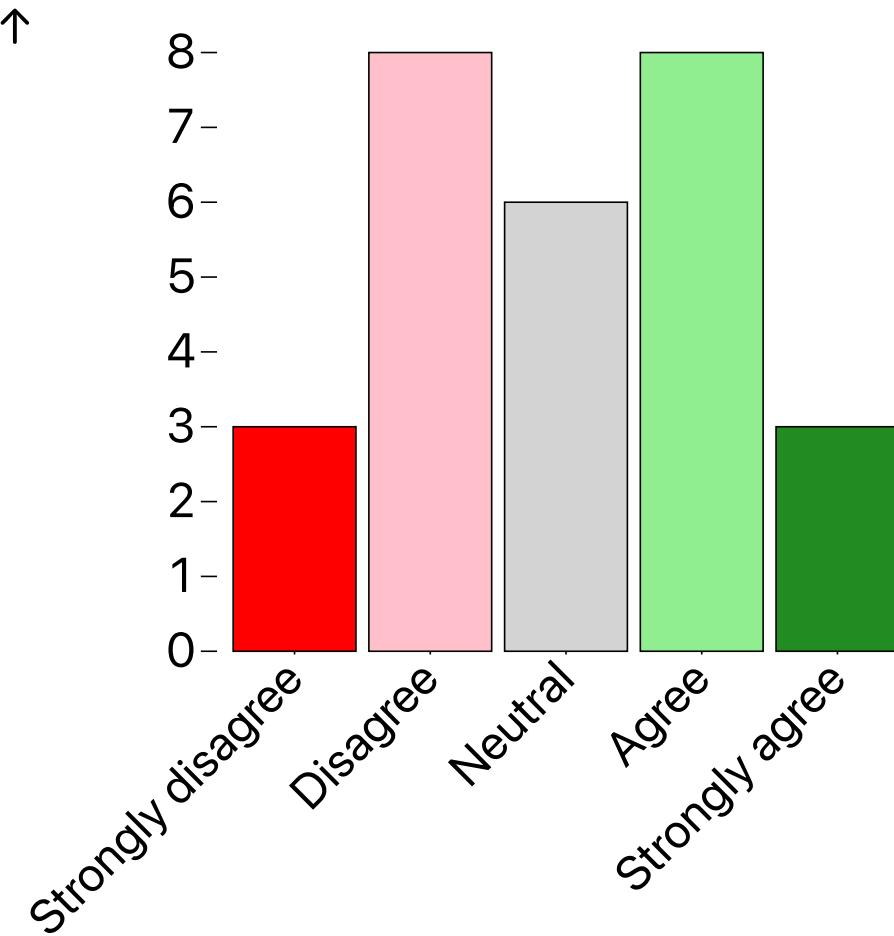

<https://forms.gle/12tV7fgjcAyC8iVG6>

- ideology secondary to pragmatic issues in choosing to use violence?
- most important in allowing restraint?
- most likely to provoke escalation?

- should states remain open to negotiating with violent groups?
- groups more likely to escalate violence if they feel they are losing support?

Poll results (Respondents: 28) ideology secondary to pragmatic issues?

more likely to escalate if losing support?

Poll results: escalation and restraint most important factor allowing restraint?

most likely to provoke escalation?

Poll results: negotiation states should remain open to negotiating with politically violent groups?

relates to our Week 11-12 classes on state responses

Mechanisms of escalation and restraint

- escalation and restraint concepts
- catalogue of mechanisms
- grouped/summarised mechanisms
 - restraint
 - escalation

escalation and restraint

- escalation - a rise in the frequency and/or severity of violent actions
- restraint - a deliberate restriction (either reducing or completely stopping) of violent actions are there significant examples of escalation and/or restraint in cases you know of?

Mechanisms of escalation and restraint

relational arena	Violence-enabling mechanisms	Violence-inhibiting mechanisms
Within movement arena	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A1.1. Intensification of threat narrative A1.2. Foregrounding of revolutionary goals A1.3. Declining influence of moderates A1.4. Valorisation of violence A1.5. Ident. violence as a viable or necessary strategy A1.6. Fear of missing out A1.7. Preparation for violence 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> B1.1. Campaign/issue deprioritisation or closure B1.2. Foregrounding non-revolutionary goals B1.3. Persistent or expanding influence of moderates B1.4. Disassociation from violence and/or ident. violence as counter-productive B1.5. Rules limiting the use of or opportunities for violence B1.6. Within-movement backlash against violence movement-opposition arena	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A2.1. Increasingly hostile emotional entrainment between activists and their opponents A2.2. Increased mutual expectation of violence A2.3. Increased availability of 'legitimate' targets A2.4. Sudden power imbalance between opposing groups 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> B2.1. Tactical and/or emotional disentrainment B2.2. Limited expectations of violence B2.3. Steady balance of power within situational contexts B2.4. Achievement of dominance without need for (further) violence movement-political environment arena	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A3.1. Diminishing political opportunities A3.2. Growing ident. of 'corrupt elites' as 'the enemy' A3.3. Radical flank actors become the focus of political and/or media attention A3.4. Elites endorse polarising issue frame A3.5. Elites Legitimate violence 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> B3.1. Ways to pursue goals through less extreme means B3.2. Alliance of movement and political or cultural elites B3.3. Elite allies withdraw support in response to rising use or threats of violence by movement actors movement-security forces arena	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A4.1. Comm. breakdown between activists and security A4.2. Loss of control by state security actors 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> B4.1. Open communication between security and activists B4.2. Security forces maintain control (without breaching societal norms of appropriate policing) movement-public arena	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> A5.1. Decoupling of movement from general public A5.2. (Part of) public endorse of polarising issue frame A5.3. Legitimation of violence by members of the public 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> B5.1. Activists emphasise import of broad public support B5.2. Key constituencies criticise 'inappropriate' violence summarising logics of restraint - (Busher et al. 2021 and Ravndal 2020)

(‘ascending the ladder of abstraction’, Sartori 1970)

1. A strategic logic (violence is counterproductive in the present circumstances)
2. A moral logic (certain forms of violence are illegitimate)
3. A logic of ego maintenance (we are not a violent organization)
4. A logic of outgroup definition (softening views on putative outgroups)
5. An organisational logic (the organisation evolves in ways that undermine the logics of violent escalation)

summarising logics of escalation - Busher et al. (2018)

(‘ascending the ladder of abstraction’, Sartori 1970)

1. framing logic (intensity of context/threat, revolutionary goals, glorification of violence, violence as viable/necessary, increasing vilification of ‘enemies’)
2. strategic logic (cope with changing dynamics with opponents and/or state, deal with diminishing opportunity, loss of state control)
3. organisational logic (declining moderate influence, logistical/practical preparation for violence)
4. constituency/social logic (endorsement/legitimation from elites and/or public, politics/media focuses on radical flank)

A case of RWE restraint?

- Nordic Resistance Movement (NRM) at a glance
- Tore Bjørgo on NRM
 - findings

NRM at a glance

Nordic Resistance Movement (NRM) - Tore Bjørgo

Tore Bjørgo on Why the Nordic Resistance Movement Restrains its Use of Violence (Bjørgo and Ravndal 2020)

Nordic Resistance Movement (NRM) - Tore Bjørgo

1. When, why does NRM permit use of violence?

- no moral restraints, rather violence perceived as courageous (productive (to gaining support and freely propagating views))
- try to expand boundaries of acceptable violence with acts against police and political enemies

2. Why, how does NRM restrain use of violence?

- to maintain strategic position
- commit members to maintaining nonviolent discipline

3. How does NRM leadership respond to cases where members overstep and act violently?

- honouring rather than punishing activists who overstep
- BUT ALSO distancing from any affiliation or connection

Any questions, concerns, feedback for this class?

Anonymous feedback here:

<https://forms.gle/NfF1pCfYMbkAT3WP6>

Alternatively, please send me an email: m.zeller@lmu.de

References

Bjørgo, Tore, and Jacob Aasland Ravndal. 2020. "Why the Nordic Resistance Movement Restrains Its Use of Violence." Perspectives on Terrorism 14 (6): 37–48.

Blomberg, Helena, and Jonas Stier. 2019. "Flashback as a Rhetorical Online Battleground: Debating the (Dis)guise of the Nordic Resistance Movement." Social Media + Society 5 (1): 205630511882333. <https://doi.org/10.1177/2056305118823336>.

Bray, Mark. 2017. Antifa: The Anti-Fascist Handbook. New York: Melville House Publishing. <https://doi.org/10.1017/CBO9781107415324.004>.

Busher, Joel, Gareth Harris, Julia Ebner, Zsófia Hacsek, and Graham Macklin. 2022. "The Dynamics Of Violence Escalation And Inhibition During 'Hot Periods' Of Anti-Minority And Far-Right Activism: Towards An Assessment Framework." Coventry: CREST.

Copsey, Nigel, and Samuel Merrill. 2020. "Violence and Restraint Within Antifa: A View from the United States." Perspectives on Terrorism 14 (6): 122–38.

Jones, Ali, and Nils Schuhmacher. 2024. "Ghostly Militanz: The Loss of Discursive Infrastructures and German Antifascist Radical Counterpublics" 17 (1): 46–63. <https://doi.org/10.1285/I20356609V17I1P46>.

Kotonen, Tommi. 2021. "Proscribing the Nordic Resistance Movement in Finland: Analyzing the Process and Its Outcome." Journal for Deradicalization 29 (Winter): 177–204.

LaFree, Gary. 2018. "Is Antifa a Terrorist Group?" Society 55 (3): 248–52. <https://doi.org/10.1007/s12115-018-0246-x>.

Pyrooz, David C., and James A. Densley. 2018. "On Public Protest, Violence, and Street Gangs" Society 55 (3): 229–36. <https://doi.org/10.1007/s12115-018-0242-1>.

Ravndal, Jacob Aasland. 2020. "The Emergence of Transnational Street Militancy: A Comparative Case Study of the Nordic Resistance Movement and Generation Identity." Journal for Deradicalization 25: 1–34.

Sartori, Giovanni. 1970. "Concept Misformation in Comparative Politics." The American Political Science Review 64 (4): 1033–53.

Stiftelsen Expo. 2025. "Svensk Rasideologisk Miljö 2024." Stockholm: Stiftelsen Expo.

Zeller, Michael C, and Michael Vaughan. 2024. "Proscribing Right-Wing Extremist Organizations in Europe: Variations, Trends, and Prospects." Terrorism and Political Violence 36 (8): 985–1007. <https://doi.org/10.1080/09546553.2023.2240446>.